

Missionaries Notebooking

By Bonnie Rose Hudson

Please Note: The purpose of this book is not to endorse every belief and tenet of these missionaries, but to present an overall look at some of the many missionaries who have given so much to spread the Word of God.

Missionary Notebooking

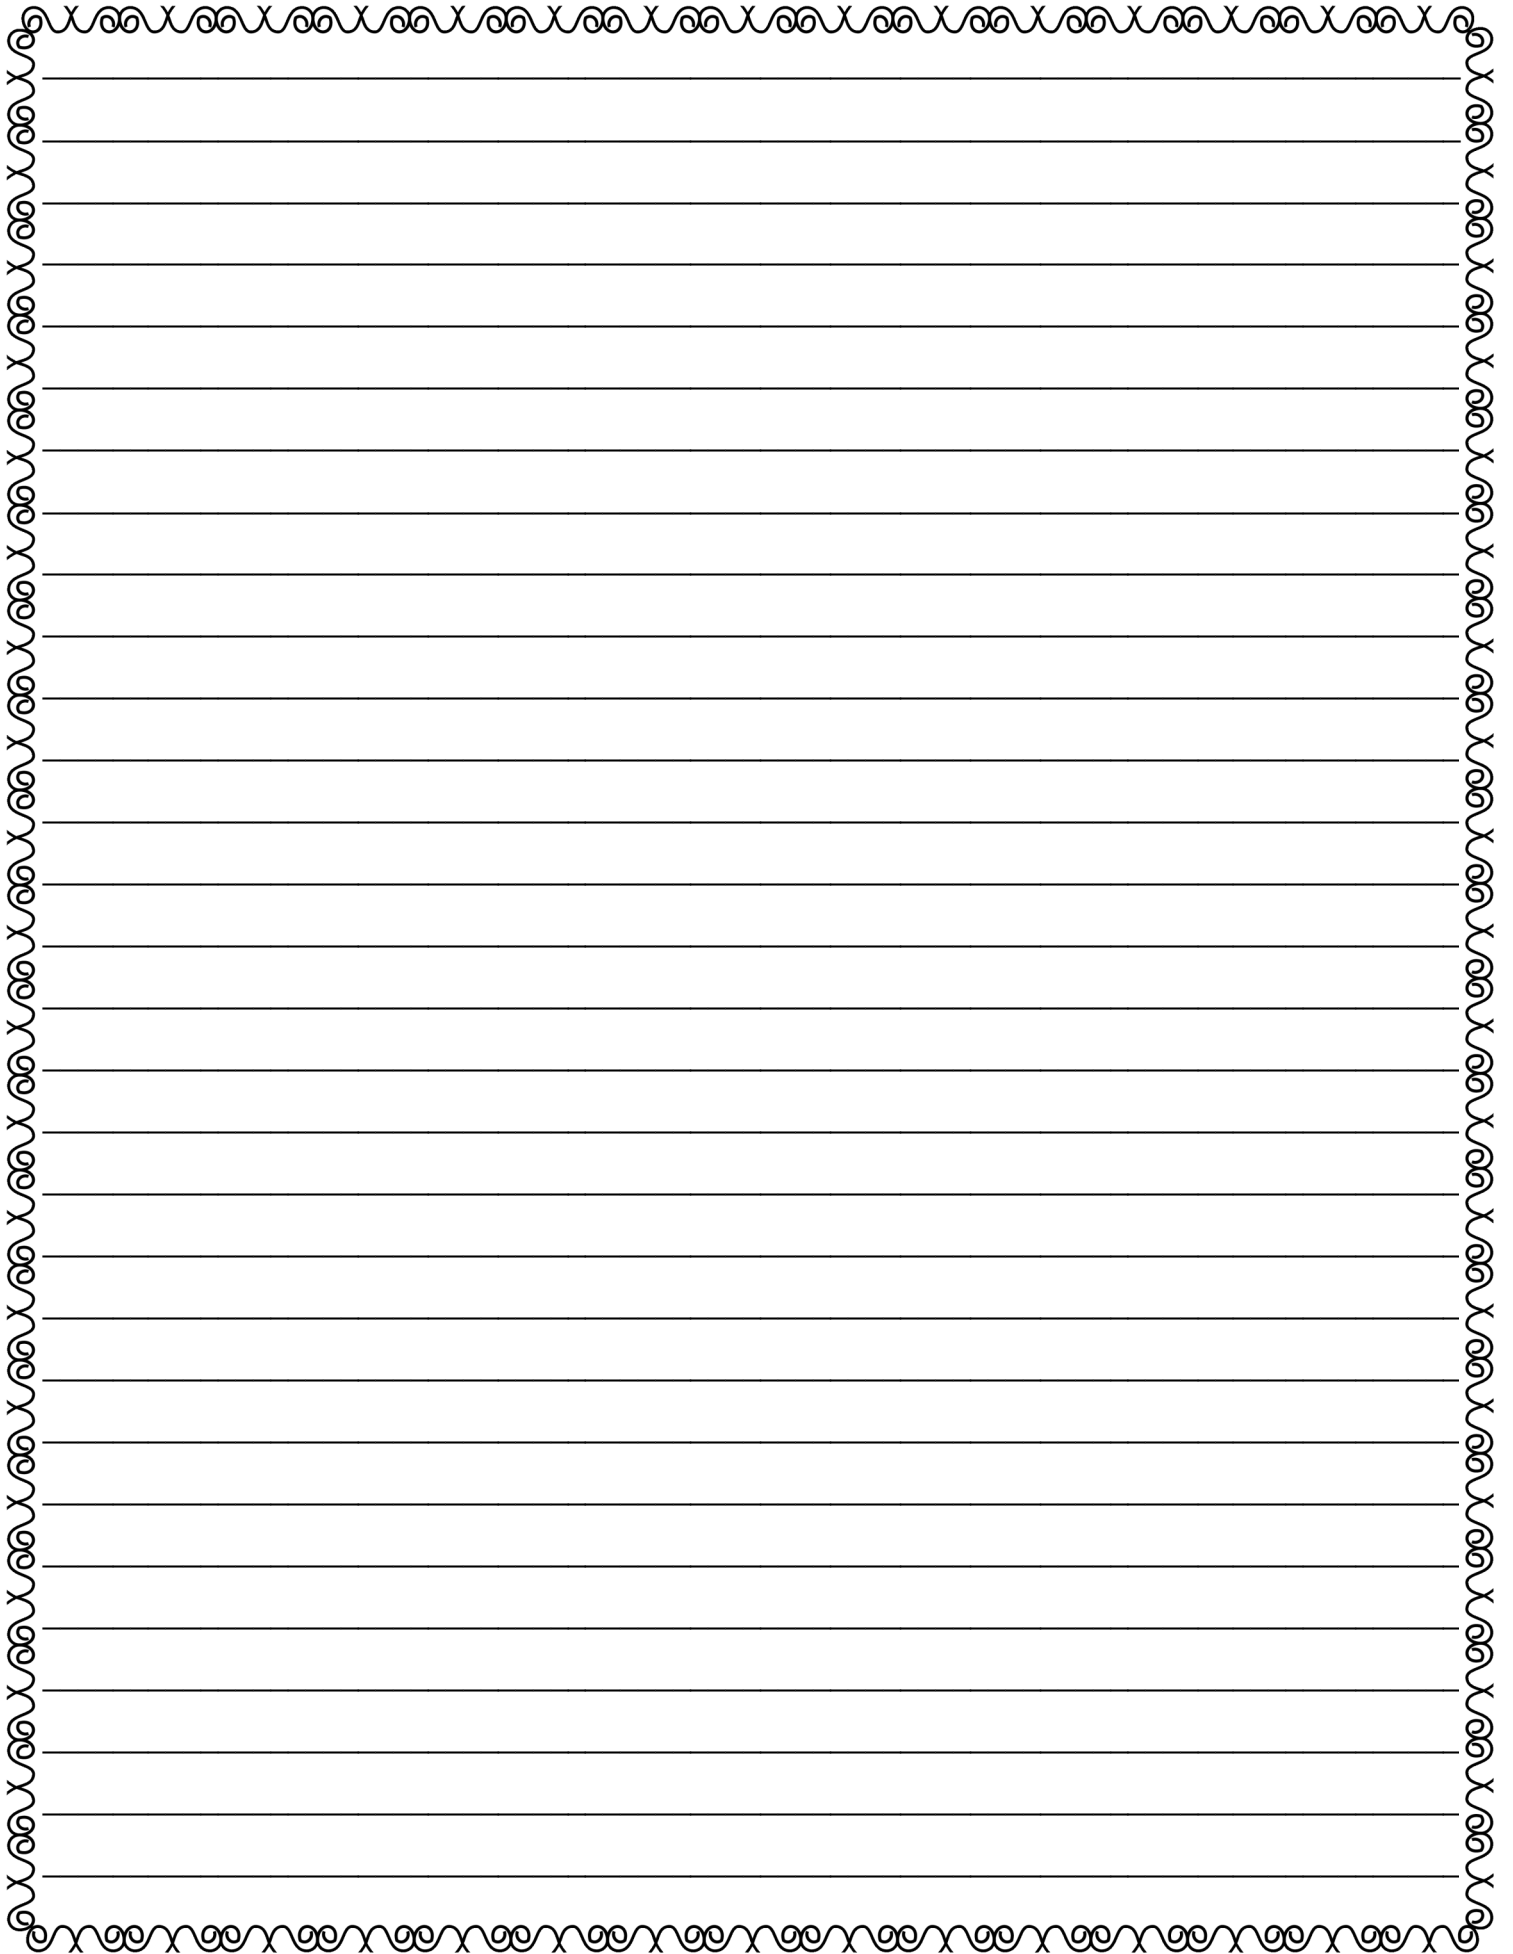

Bonus Research Projects

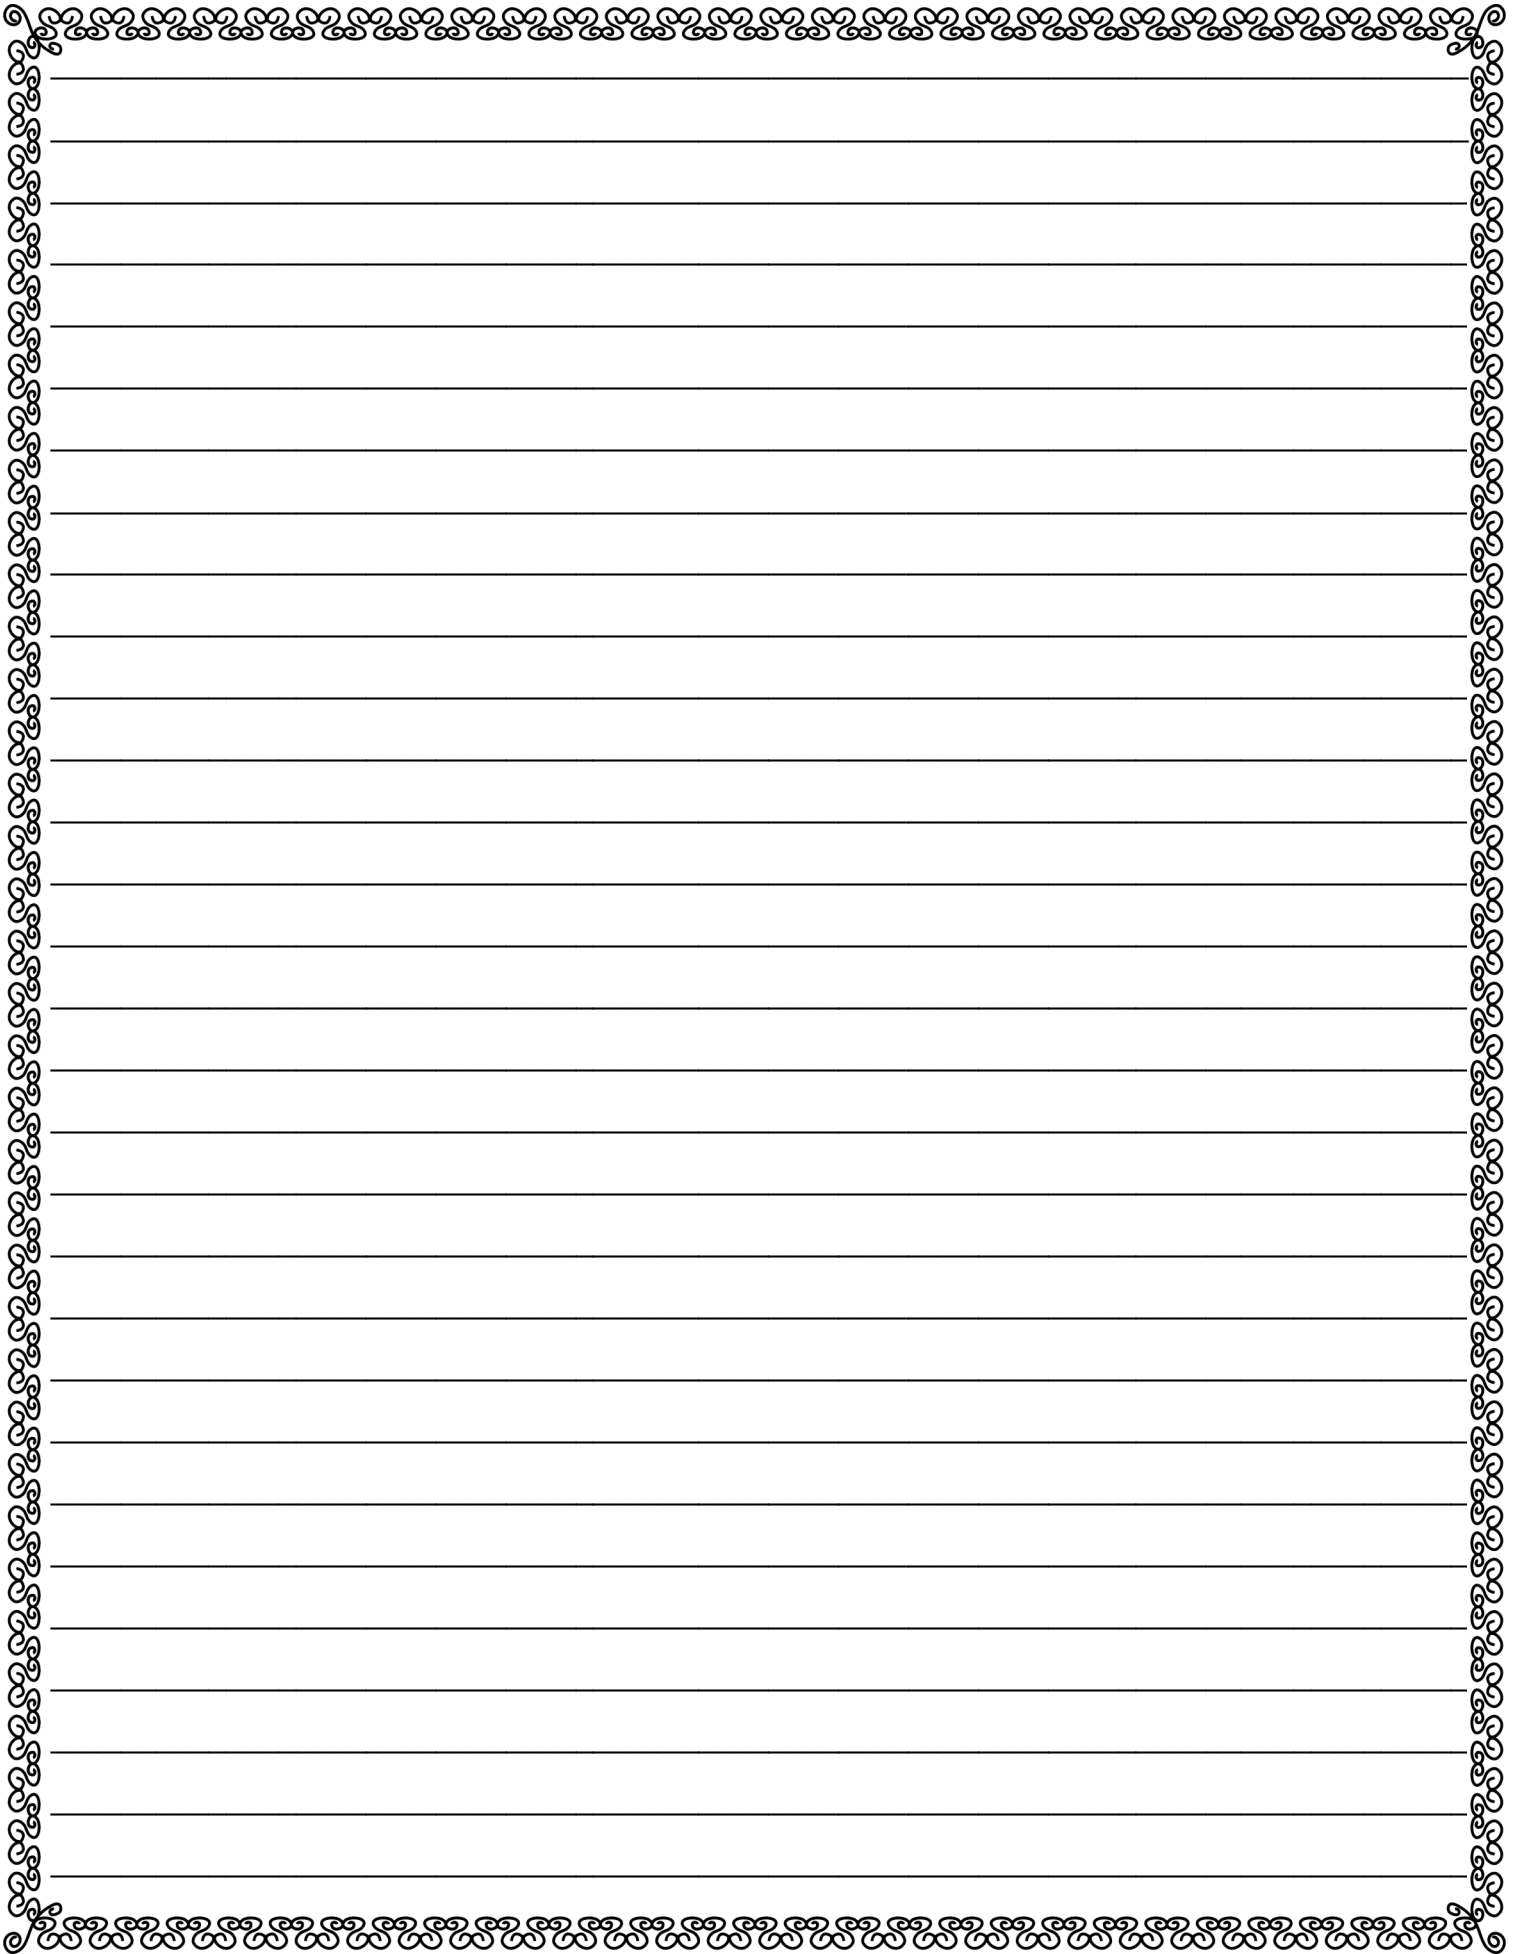

1. In recent years, there has been tremendous growth in indigenous missionary movements, where Christians from within a country reach out to others in their country with the Gospel. What are your first thoughts about the benefits or concerns you may have about this? Now do some research into the modern indigenous missionary movement. Have your thoughts changed? If so, how so? If not, write what you learned that supported your initial thoughts.
2. What missionary's story had the deepest impact on you? Explain why you chose this missionary and the impact his or her story had on you.
3. What do you feel would be the most difficult part of being a missionary? What do you feel would be the most rewarding?
4. How many people groups remain unreached with the Gospel of Jesus today? What efforts are being made to reach them?
5. Compare and contrast two missionaries of your choice. Be sure to include ease or difficulty of gaining access to the country and people they were to work with. Also include the language barriers and the availability of the Bible in the language of the people they were going to work with.

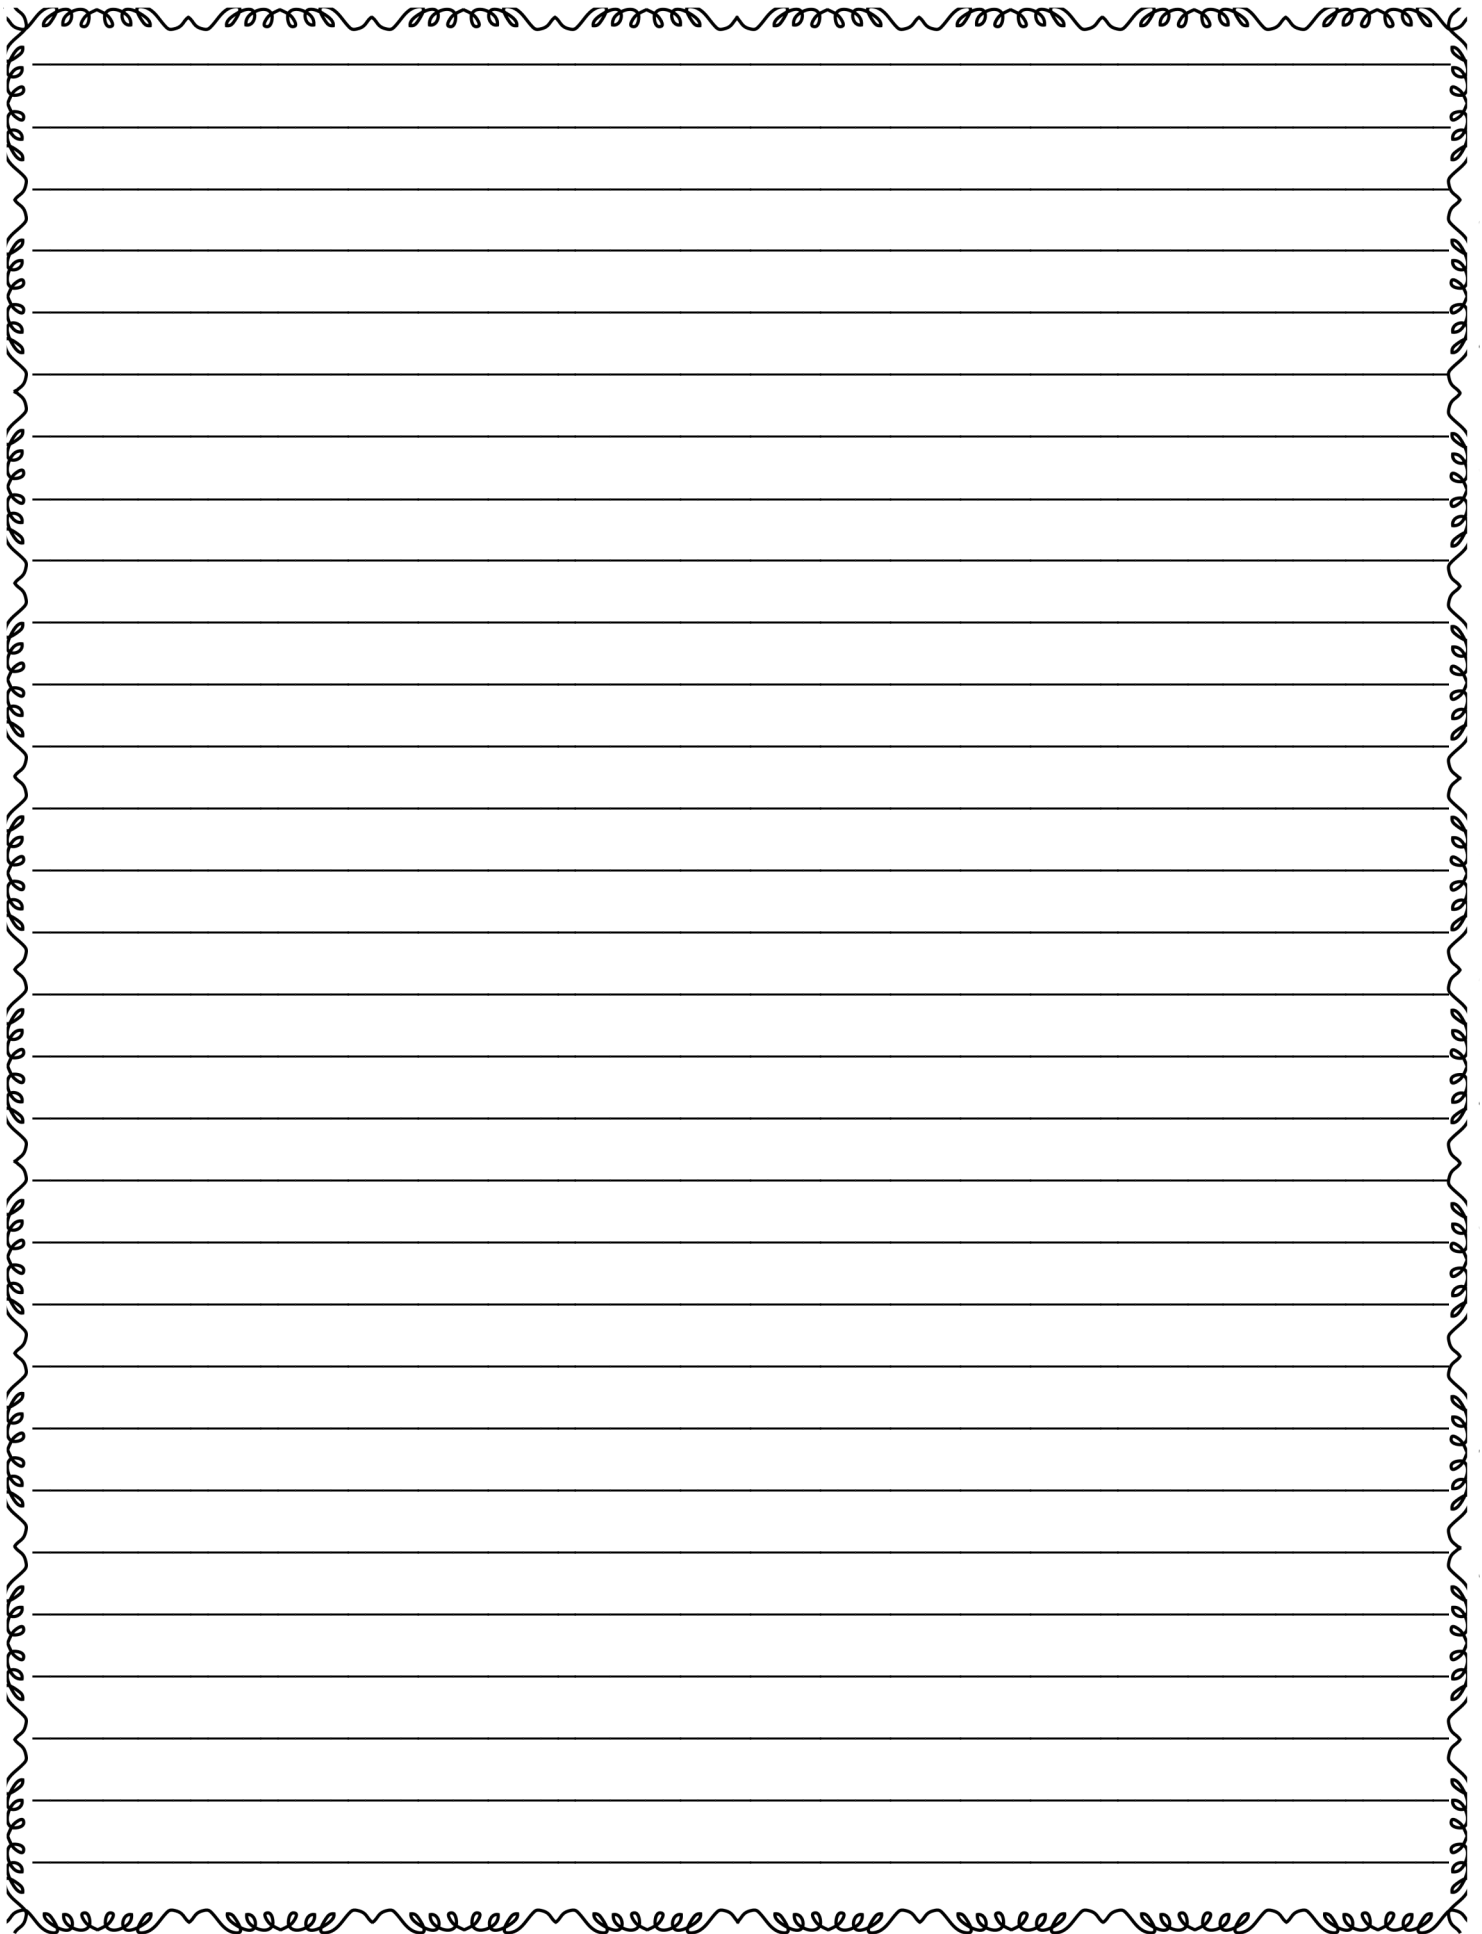

Handwriting practice paper with a decorative border and horizontal lines.

A series of horizontal lines for writing, consisting of 20 evenly spaced lines that span the width of the page.
