

Johannesburg is the largest city in South Africa and one of the most important cities in all of Africa. The city was founded in 1886 by gold miners who moved there, hoping to strike it rich in the gold fields surrounding the city.

Johannesburg is the largest city in South Africa and one of the most important cities in all of Africa. The city was founded in 1886 by gold miners who moved there, hoping to strike it rich in the gold fields surrounding the city.

Cape Town is one of South Africa's three capital cities. It lies on the southwestern coast of South Africa, close to where the Atlantic Ocean and Indian Ocean meet. The Dutch East India Company founded the city in 1652.

Cape Town is one of South Africa's three capital cities. It lies on the southwestern coast of South Africa, close to where the Atlantic Ocean and Indian Ocean meet. The Dutch East India Company founded the city in 1652.

Cape Town is one of South Africa's three capital cities. It lies on the southwestern coast of South Africa, close to where the Atlantic Ocean and Indian Ocean meet. The Dutch East India Company founded the city in 1652.