

Benjamin Banneker
was a scientist who studied the stars.

Phillis Wheatley
wrote beautiful
poetry.

Elijah McCoy invented
a way trains could run
long periods of time
without stopping.

Martin Luther King, Jr.
led the civil rights movement.

Katherine Johnson

loved math,

graduated early, and

later joined NASA.

Condoleezza Rice
served as the U.S.
Secretary of State.