

They longed to go North where they could be free.

Slaves in the South
escaped through the Underground Railroad.

They called the Little Dipper the Drinking Gourd.

Some think

messages were sent by coded

quilt patterns.