

On the second day of Christmas, my true love sent to me . . .

two turtle doves.

The turtle dove is a member of the
pigeon family.

Its name comes from the sound of
its call, not from
the popular reptile
known for its shell.

On the third day of Christmas, my true love sent to me ...

three French hens.

A French hen could

be a name for

certain kinds of

chickens from France.
